STATE RESTS IN MURDER CASE

Defense to Have Inning in Loeb-Leopold Hearing.

SLAYERS LIKELY TO TESTIFY

Confessions of the Two Youths Read by State's Attorney Crowe, Who Claim He Has Constructed a "Perfect Hanging Case"—Darrow Intimates He May Put Parents of Slay-ers on the Stand—Developments.

Chicago, July 30.—The state rested its case today in the hearing of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb for the slaying of Robert Franks. The defense opened its case immediately.

State's Attorney Crowe read the confessions of Leopold and Loeb, and constructed what he termed a "perfect hanging case." In one document read Leopold is quoted as stating that he believed he lost his spectacles, which led to the arrests, when he stumbled in the dust while disposing of the body of Robert. "There is only one way I can think of that I dropped the spectacles," Leopold said. "I had them in my pocket at the time we were carrying the body to the culvert. I stumbled and the glasses must have fallen out at the time."

Leopold's confession went over the ground frequently covered by Crowe. The confession showed how the boys discussed the kidnapping and murder last November, their plans for securing the ransom money and the method of escaping detection.

Leopold said they had no particular victim in mind, although when they made a "reconnoitering expedition," to the playground of the Harvard school, John Levinson, 9-year-old son of a Chicago corporation lawyer, was considered. But as Levinson left the playground unexpectedly, Leopold and Loeb came across Robert Franks and invited him into the car.

At this point Leopold's confession differed from Loeb's. Leopold said he was driving the car and that Loeb, sitting in the rear seat, reached one arm under Robert's chin—Robert was sitting in the front seat—and struck him over the head with the chisel. In almost every other respect the confessions are identical. Loeb's confession gives as the reason for the murder the desire for excitement, adventure and a "little money."

Chief Counsel Darrow of the defense intimated he would place Leopold and Loeb on the stand. In his determination to leave no stone unturned in the fight to save them from the gallows, Darrow said he was prepared to put on the witness stand the boys' parents, their friends and the boys themselves.

REBELS IN FLIGHT

Order Restored in Sao Paulo City by Brazilian Troops.

Buenos Ayres, July 30.—According to messages received here, Brazilian troops are restoring order in Sao Paulo City. Governor Carlos De Campos has reassumed his position as chief of the state government. Martial law continues, however. The main column of the rebel troops, which evacuated Sao Paulo Monday, appears to have escaped into the interior. It is assumed here that the rebels are disbanding and fleeing toward the wild country of the interior of Mato Grosso. There can be no doubt that the rebellion is practically over and that the victory of the government of President Bernardes is complete.

The population of Sao Paulo (second city of Brazil, with 760,000 inhabitants when the rebellion started) has started returning to its homes and rebuilding of ruined property will begin at once.

Employees Save Records.

Columbus, July 30.—Employees saved 30,000 records stored in the industrial relations department offices in the state office building at Fourth and Main streets. A number of the records of workmen's compensation claims filed in wooden racks on the sixth floor of the building caught fire from the sun's rays directed through a skylight. Employees extinguished the blaze.

Bank Robbed.

Highland, Ill., July 30.—Between $30,000 and $40,000 was obtained by six bandits, who held up the First National bank here. The robbers forced Assistant Cashier Earl Malam, the only man in the bank, into the vault, after looting the cashier's cage. The yeggs escaped in a large touring car.

ATTACKS KLAN LEADERS

Former Head of Extension Department Makes Open Address.

Saginaw, Mich., July 30.—In an address before an open meeting here an attack was made on the leaders of the Ku Klux Klan by D. C. Stevenson of Indianapolis, former head of the Klan extension department. Stevenson criticized what he termed the mercenary formula that permits officials of the Klan organization to receive $4 of each $10 initiation fee. He censured Imperial Wizard Evans and other national officials, claiming that "some of them are in collusion with those the Klan is supposed to be fighting." While in sympathy with the principles of the organization, he said he is opposed to the present leadership. It was claimed that the meeting was held as the beginning of a movement by dissatisfied Klan members in Michigan to break away and form a new organization.

REPORT HELD UP, SENATOR SAYS

Representatives of the Sugar Interests Blamed.

LAFOLLETTE MAKES CHARGE

Final Report of Tariff Commission on Costs of Sugar Production Delayed, the Senator Says, by Sugar People Bringing Pressure "Through the Highest Official Channels of This Government."

Washington, July 30.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent candidate for president, issued a statement here charging that representatives of the sugar interests have delayed the final report of the United States tariff commission on the costs of sugar production by bringing pressure "through the highest official channels of this government."

La Follette alleged that the sugar interests have attempted to intimidate members of the tariff commission and otherwise obstruct the action of that body.

The commission's report is expected to recommend a 25 per cent revision downward on the tax on imported raw sugar. This would mean a reduction to the sugar consumers of the country, it is pointed out.

The La Follette statement refers to persistent rumors that the report of the tariff commission on the costs of production of sugar to determine whether the present duties on sugar should be raised or lowered under the flexible provisions of the tariff act, was ready to be made public. "But for some unexplained reason the report has been withheld," said La Follette. "It is well known that representatives of the sugar interests have been very busy in Washington actively using every influence and device to delay the completion of the investigation and the publication of the report."

The senator said the investigation should have been completed long ago. La Follette also cited the row in the tariff commission when it was disclosed that Commissioner Glassie's wife was interested in sugar production, and pointed out that Glassie was finally barred from participation in the investigation by congressional action. "The public has a right to know the exact status of the investigation," declared La Follette, "and I have therefore called upon the chairman of the commission for such facts as may be properly made public at this time."

FOR HIGHWAY WORK

Bids to Be Received Friday by State Department.

Columbus, July 30.—Bids will be received at the state highway department Friday for road projects totaling more than $1,850,000 and covering a distance of 46,926 miles. Included in the letting will be seven federal aided projects. The largest of the contracts is for improvement of the Ravenna-Louisville road, covering a distance of 3.5 miles, which it is estimated will cost $126,630. Four miles of the Zanesville-Cincinnati road is to be surface treated with waterbound macadam at an estimated cost of $76,810. Two roads are to be improved in Ross county, one, the Chillicothe-Logan road, for a distance of one mile, and another, the Chillicothe-Hillsboro road, for the same distance. Grading and drainage of the McArthur-Athens road will cost approximately $54,000 for the five miles it is to be improved. Improvement of both the Marietta-Athens road and the Marietta-Cambridge road are included in the call for bids.

Criticizes Governor Bryan.

Omaha, Neb., July 30.—"Governor Bryan, vice presidential nominee, has read himself out of the Democratic party by opposing full observance of defense day," General George B. Duncan, commanding the Seventh corps area of the army, said here. General Duncan said the Democratic national platform called for adequate army and navy protection and conscription of industry in case of war.

Wilson Knocks Out Malone.

Boston, July 30.—Johnny Wilson of New York, former middleweight champion, knocked out Jack Malone of St. Paul in the sixth round here. Wilson had the better of the going in the early rounds and sent Malone down for a count of eight in the second round with an attack to the head, which opened an old cut. Wilson weighed 159½ and Malone 154½.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Five Sisters Injured.

Columbus, July 30.—Mrs. Fannie Weisner and her four sisters, Misses Anna, Charlotte, Amelia and Ella Spero, all of New York city, were injured near this city when their machine crashed down a seven-foot embankment on the National highway, pinning its occupants beneath it. According to the story told an ambulance crew, the machine containing the women was crowded off the road when a heavy truck passed from the rear and cut in ahead. As the machine crashed down the embankment it turned over. Passing autoists extricated the victims. All will recover.

Damage by Storm.

Lorain, O., July 30.—Lightning, rain, wind and hail did thousands of dollars' damage in Lorain and other northern Ohio towns and spread consternation among persons on the streets and in a theater, who feared a repetition of the great tornado of June 28. The Metzger & Robinson clothing store was damaged in stock and fixtures to the amount of $15,000 when lightning, which followed electric wires down into the basement, ignited gas leaking from a corroded pipe.

Holdups Sent to Pen.

Cincinnati, July 30.—Harold Schmalzigan, 22, was sentenced to 15 years, imprisonment in the penitentiary, and his brother, Elmer Schmalzigan, 19, and Louis Luckey, 24, were sentenced each to serve 10 years, after they pleaded guilty to having held up and robbed inmates of a rooming house here on the night of May 15 last.

Kidnaping Alleged.

Cleveland, July 30.—Police are searching for Mrs. Phoebe Wood, a nurse, charged with kidnaping Dorothy May Blanchard, 5. The search has spread to Detroit and Ann Arbor, Mich., where the missing woman has relatives and where police believe she may have gone after gaining possession of the child.

Cashier Held Up.

Cleveland, July 30.—A robber held up Harold Horton, substitute cashier of the East Cleveland branch of the City Savings and Loan company, and escaped with between $800 and $900. Horton was alone in the office when the bandit entered.

Arrested by Dry Agents.

Marysville, O., July 30.—John Shy of Columbus is held here on a charge of transporting and possessing liquor. He was arrested by local dry sleuths as he entered the city. Officers say they found 60 gallons of liquor in his car.

Girl Drowned.

Toledo, July 30.—Anna Carr, 14, was drowned at Niles Beach, 10 miles east of here, while she was bathing with Orville Thompson, 19, and Mildred Hughes, 18, neighbors.

Governor Small on Stand.

Springfield, Ill., July 30.—Governor Len Small, on the witness stand in the civil suits filed by Attorney General Edward J. Brundage, denied that he had ever withheld from the state one cent that was due from interest on state funds, while he was treasurer. The governor bared the story of his life and told how he had accumulated his money. The governor testified before Master in Chancery Charles G. Briggie.

SMALLER NATIONS TO OBJECT

France to Yield Right to Separate Action in Event Her Proposal Is Accepted by Interallied Conference. Figure Named Would Cover Remaining Cost of Restoring Devastated Regions in France.

London, July 30.—Yielding her rights to separate action, France will propose to offer the military evacuation of the Ruhr in October, according to reports published here.

France is said to have yielded under pressure from the American-British banking group. This is regarded as the turning point in the inter-allied reparations conference which now only awaits a formal offer from France to this machinery of the experts' plan.

It is stated that in return, France wants absolute priority to the first 26 billion gold francs collected as reparations under the Dawes-McKenna plan. The figure named by the French covers the remaining cost of restoring the French devastated regions.

The proposal is certain to arouse a storm of protest from the Belgians, Italians and all smaller nations who have a claim to reparations. The British may object and even the cost of the United States army of occupation, which had a certain priority, would be prejudiced.

The presence of the French in the Ruhr had been the main stumbling block to acquiescence by the banking groups in the proposed terms of an international loan to Germany. Now Herriot is about to offer to get out for 26 billion gold franc. The French also will safeguard themselves by putting a clause in the formula providing for appeal to arbitration against majority decisions on sanctions.

Secretary of State Hughes in a statement in Paris said the "thought of failure of the London conference is too grave to be considered in cold blood." "I have the firmest confidence that the conference will find a solution. Everybody I met in London said so."

STATE BEGINS DRIVE IN FEDERAL COURT

Would Maintain Valuation of Utility Companies.

Columbus, July 30.—Motions were filed by the state in federal court here asking dismissal of a number of suits brought by utility corporations against county treasurers to enjoin them from collecting taxes for the last half of 1923.

Bases for these suits, in most instances, are that the tax commission, in fixing the valuation, placed the utility property on the duplicate at its true value in money, whereas other real estate in the county was taxed at only about 50 to 75 per cent of its true value, and that the valuation of the utility property exceeds the real value.

The suits followed a favorable decision in a similar action brought two years ago by the Dayton Street Railway company, when Judge Sater, following a lengthy hearing before a master commissioner, ordered the county auditor of Montgomery county to reduce the valuation of the company 40 per cent from the figure fixed by the tax commission.

In the motions filed here, prepared by Wilbur E. Benoy, special counsel, and Joseph I. Eagleson, first assistant attorney general, jurisdiction of the federal court is questioned on the ground that the utility companies have not exhausted all of their remedies in the state courts.

Filing of the motions, it is believed, means a complete reversal of the policy heretofore followed by the state courts, and it is thought to mark the beginning of one of the hardest fought legal battles in the history of the commonwealth to hold up the valuation of utility companies.

ANTHRAX SPREADING

Federal and State Officials Move to Check Disease in South.

Memphis, Tenn., July 30.—Spread of anthrax in Mississippi, Tennessee and Arkansas has engaged the attention of federal and state officials. More than a score of persons and approximately 7,000 head of cattle are reported to have died of the disease. Reports indicated a serious situation in Mississippi and Arkansas, while certain small areas in Tennessee, Louisiana and Missouri were said to be infected.

Governor Henry L. Whitfield of Mississippi said 25 counties in that state had infected herds and that about 16 persons had died. The superintendent of the state health department at Jackson said, however, that only six deaths had been reported officially.

Arkansas reported 20 infected counties, with a death list of six or eight persons. Five counties in Tennessee are infected, the state veterinarian reported.

Senator McKellar of Tennessee sent a telegram to Secretary Henry C. Wallace of the United States department of agriculture, urging the aid of the department in the campaign against the disease.

Surety Bonds Cancelled.

Columbus, July 30.—Surety bonds of $370,000, fixed a year ago for receivers of the Florida Farms and North Carolina Farms, subsidiary organizations of the R. L. Doolings company, were canceled by Judge Kinkead, when the receivers reported they have no money with which to pay premiums on the bonds. "No assets whatever have come into their hands," New bonds of $1,000 each for the six receivers were fixed by the court.

TO OBSERVE DEFENSE DAY

Patriotic Demonstration Will Feature Occasion in Ohio.

Columbus, July 30.—National Defense day, the sixth anniversary of the battle of St. Mihiel, will be appropriately observed in Ohio. The day will be given over to patriotic demonstrations and is meant to show the military defense strength that could be mobilized upon call, army officials say.

Plans for the day's observance are under way throughout the state, the committee appointed by Governor Donahey announced. Members of the committee are: Judge S. C. Roettinger, Cincinnati; Judge Albert H. Morrill, Cincinnati; Colonel Richard M. McMasters, chief of staff, Eighty-third division, Fort Hayes, and Adjutant General Frank Henderson. County committees and subcommittees will be named by the state group to form plans for local demonstrations. All units of the Ohio national guard and the regular army will be mobilized and industrial and civic forces of cities may also participate.

Now in Eastern Zone.

Washington, July 30.—The interstate commerce commission modified its order defining the boundary between central and eastern standard time zones, so as to include in the eastern zone the cities of Findlay, Kenton and Marysville, O.

Mother Seal Brings Up Family Strictly

Maternal discipline is as pronounced among the seal families as among human beings, according to men who have spent many years along the shores of Cook inlet, Alaska, and have studied aquatic life there.

From the time a baby seal is laid snugly within a bed of dry seaweed until he receives a final spanking and is directed to hustle for himself, he is subjected to unrelenting discipline. Contrary to popular belief, a baby seal is as helpless in the water at birth as a human baby would be. It must be taught to swim and instructed in all the lore of seal life, including how to hunt food and escape its enemies.

Charles Coach, who has made hair seal hunting a business for years, says he has watched a mother seal teaching her baby to swim. The mother would flounder out on the rookery, gather the baby under her flipper and slip carefully into the water. Suspending the baby on her flipper, she would bark, grunt, whine and wheedle to indicate what was desired. If the baby refused to perform, it was effectively spanked with the mother's flipper. The young seal gradually learns to swim by floundering a few strokes at a time, with the mother snatching it from danger every time it becomes exhausted or starts to sink.

Some of the beachcombers adopt baby seals as pets. They become as faithful as dogs and, if one decides to banish them, are as hard to get rid of as cats. An instance was cited where a baby seal was taken out to sea in the hope that it would reunite with its herd. About midnight there was a plaintive wail at the cabin door. Like the traditional cat, the seal had come back. He howled until he was admitted to the family circle and fed a piece of fish.

When Pets Become Plagues.

Pets carried to new lands often turn up years later as plagues. The wild pigs of New Zealand are the offspring of the pet porkers carried there and left by the Spanish explorers to the Galapagos Islands. The pigs on the island and later in New Zealand became so thick that it was a common occurrence for a hunter to bag fifty in a day. Goats first left as pets on St. Helena by the Portuguese in 1518, became so numerous as to bring destruction to forests.

Something New and Different

Every Monday morning from now on until further notice we are going over our stock and pick out ten pairs of Ladies and 10 pairs of Men's Shoes or Oxfords that we are going to sell at no matter what the former price has been or what make of shoes they are. These 20 pairs of Shoes must sell on Monday or Tuesday of each week or they will be put back in stock again.

These 20 pair of Shoes will be put on display inside of our Store and not in our windows. If your size is in this lot of 20 pairs you will be lucky. It will pay you to investigate this sale every MONDAY and TUESDAY of each week until further notice.

Come in early on Monday morning and get a real bargain (don't be too late.)

This type of sale is to eliminate our stock of odd sizes and pairs; there will be shoes in this sale that sold for $4.00, $5.00, $6.00, $7.00, and $7.50. Don't neglect coming in every Monday morning early and looking over the 20 pairs on sale, you may find just the kind of a Shoe you want, for $2.95.

Obelisks Misnamed

The name "Cleopatra's Needles" is improperly given to two famous obelisks erected by Thothmes III, at On (Heliopolis) about 1500 B. C., and brought to Alexandria by Augustus about 23 B. C., to add to the beauty of the city. One of these granite monoliths now stands on the Victoria embankment in London, while the other is in Central park, New York.

Georgian Painters

The reign of George II and George III in England became famous for their portrait painters, who depicted the beauty of women and fashion and fame of the times. The names most frequently mentioned in this connection are Gainsborough, Reynolds, Romney, Raeburn and Lawrence.

HERRICK REFRIGERATORS

The Big Difference In Refrigerators

The main object of any refrigerator, of course, is the preservation of foods. The refrigerator that will keep foods in perfect condition longest is naturally the refrigerator you want—provided it doesn't increase your ice bills.

The Herrick answers those requirements with facts—not claims. And it does even more. It actually decreases your ice bills while giving you more effective food preservation.

And why? Simply because the Herrick is far more than an ice box—far more than a cold storage place. It is built on the scientifically demonstrated principle that more than merely cold air is necessary to keep foods in good condition for any great length of time.

Perhaps the biggest essentials to scientifically correct refrigeration are—

- No. 1. Circulation of cold dry air.
- No. 2. Effective insulation.
- No. 3. Air-tight construction.

That the Herrick has these necessary essentials is a demonstrated fact.

Many proofs of the truth are visible even to the least informed purchaser. Others are hidden within the walls of the refrigerator, but nevertheless there, performing their functions so important to good health and economy.

SENTIMENT IN BUSINESS.

"I never let sentiment influence me in business." This was the explanation offered by a banker relative to a framed motto over his desk, reading, "He laughs best who laughs last."

Is business something cold, cruel, hard, selfish, utterly mercenary? Does it demand that during the hours we spend at it we must be less than human? Is business an invention of the devil?

Or can business be made as human as human nature itself? Can it be a source of satisfaction? Can it afford us an arena in which to cultivate and develop the finest faculties and instincts God implanted in us? Business, after all, is only another name for work. And is it not work that makes men of us all? Is it not work that yields us opportunities to grow and serve? Crush out all sentiment from our daily lives and think you, would man rise to nobler heights or sink to deeper depths? He who scorns the thought of sentiment in business has miserably failed to learn the art of living.

May Providence preserve you and preserve me from spending our lives in a business into which no sentiment is ever allowed to enter.

THE RADIO

The radio promises to put the international cable service out of business. Besides establishing communication between the United States and Great Britain experiments recently conducted have carried the human voice across 10,000 meters of space between Cornwall, England, and Sydney Heads Australia, the words being heard in 1-18th of a second after uttered. That comes close to the "dream" of the advocate of thought telepathy, which will also be possible when the sounding board of the human piano is properly attuned or sensitized.

The Panama Canal is one government owned and managed institution that pays well. August 15, will be the tenth anniversary of its official opening to traffic. Since that date it has earned more than $27,000,000 and the income during the next ten years will be more than $25,000,000 per year.

40 STATE FLAGS NOW IN P. O. COLLECTION

Department Boasts Best Assortment in Country.

Washington.—With 40 state standards in its possession presented by organizations and individuals, and prospects of receiving those of the remaining states, the Post Office department boasts the most complete collection of official state flags in the country.

The flags of Ohio, Utah, Montana and Kentucky recently were presented and accepted ceremoniously by Postmaster General New.

The only states not now represented in the collection are Arizona, Kansas, Mississippi, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Washington and Wyoming. Inquiries concerning presentation of a flag have been received from all but Nevada and New Mexico, Hawaii and Porto Rico flags are included in the 40 now preserved by the department, but there is none from the District of Columbia, which has no official flag. Alaska, Guam, Samoa or the Virgin Islands.

Presentation of the flag of Nebraska recently by the Railway Mail Service association of Lincoln and Omaha was accomplished only after the difficulty of ascertaining the design.

Appeals to the secretary of state and adjutant general of the state brought responses that the state had no flag and senators and congressmen from the state knew of none. It was finally determined the state's official seal on a field of gold had been recognized as the Nebraska state flag. It is understood Kansas has no law prescribing a state flag, and as soon as one is adopted a flag for the Post Office department's collection is promised.

Easterner Makes Farm Safe for Feathered Folk

North Andover, Mass.—Because he is a lover of birds, and also of cats, and because, further, he realizes that birds and cats do not especially fraternize, and the latter usually kill the little feathered folk, Richard Russell, owner of a big farm here, has adopted an unusual method to try to make his farm safe for birds while at the same time his 25 pet cats may still enjoy their usual freedom of roaming the hills and dales at will.

Apparently following the principle that highways traveled by automobiles are made safe for pedestrians by the requirement of horns on all autos, the tooting of which will warn pedestrians, Mr. Russell has issued a decree that each one of his cats must wear a collar equipped with bells.

Find Fossilized Skeleton of Man 45 Feet in Height

Belgrade, Yugo-Slavia.—The fossilized skeleton of a prehistoric man 45 feet tall has been discovered near the village of Chitip. The petrified remains were buried 20 feet under the ground and were dug up by workmen building a railroad. The skeleton will be taken to the national museum here. Its entirely preserved teeth are 13 inches long.

Breeding Ladybugs

Santa Barbara, Cal.—After long preparations the county has started to breed ladybugs to sell to the lemon growers of this district. Several months ago the county built an insectary in which to propagate ladybugs to fight the mealybug which has gained a foothold on the lemon orchards in Carpinteria and which threatens to spread through the county.

Baby Bandit, Latest

Pueblo, Colo.—Pueblo postal authorities and city detectives discovered the source of several recent post office thefts, and announced that two small boys, seven to nine years old, were the responsible persons. The boys led the detectives to their hiding place and showed them a pile of ashes which they said was what was left of the checks and papers.

Some Cow!

Escalon, Cal.—A Jersey cow owned by a local dairyman is twenty-two years old and listed as one of the oldest Jerseys in America, yet she gives evidence of good years to come. She recently dropped her twenty-second calf. She gives four gallons of milk and produces more than forty pounds of butterfat monthly.

Error in Route Leads to Founding of City

Seattle, Wash.—The founding of Fairbanks, Alaska, in 1902, was due to a mistake in taking a water route by Capt. John Barnette.

Captain Barnette sailed up the Yukon river. Furnished with some of the inaccurate maps of the period, he mistook the Chena slough for the Tanana river and sailed to the present site of Fairbanks before discovering his error. He was forced to discharge the greater part of his cargo of trade goods to lighten the boat in maneuvering it back to the main stream. When he discovered the possibilities of the place, he built a log store.

FOR GOVERNOR

"Developments marking the progress of the primary campaign of the past few weeks, permits his friends to say, with some degree of finality, that James A. White will be the Republican nominee for governor of Ohio," said Hugh Huntington, chairman of the White-for-Governor committee recently.

"From the very inception of the campaign," said Mr. Huntington, "The Republican electorate of Ohio has recognized the fact that it was to be a case of the field against White. Now, even the most seasoned of the party's politicians are awakening to a realization of the fact that it is a case of White against the field."

"The confidence of the prediction that Mr. White will be the Republican nominee for governor, is based not only upon the enthusiastic, voluntary pledges of support that have come to him during the course of his initial speaking tour but also upon the hundreds of messages that have come from every city and village in the state to his headquarters in the Rowlands building, bearing assurances of loyalty and good will which strikingly demonstrate the truth of the oft-repeated political statement that 'Jim White has a stronger personal following than any other one man in Ohio.'"

"During the past two weeks Mr. White has made a tour of the counties bordering Lake Erie which twice carried him from the Indiana line to the Pennsylvania line. He has made many public addresses and had been received enthusiastically in Akron, Canton, Youngstown, Cleveland, Warren, Sandusky, Toledo, Norwalk, Waukegan and numerous smaller communities. And in addition to presenting his views on questions in which Ohio voters are vitally interested, Mr. White has exercised his wonderful talent as an organizer to such an extent that corps of enthusiastic workers have been developed in every section visited to advance his candidacy. This has been done in an area of the state whence come many of the candidates who share with him the appeal for favor at the hands of Ohio Republicans."

"That some stabilizing influence is needed in the Republican politics of Ohio is generally conceded, and the steady drift of political sentiment toward the White candidacy, which will be even more strongly accentuated within the next two weeks, is clearly indicative of the fact that Jim White is being more and more recognized as the needed anchor of stability at a time when man and women of party faith are becoming deeply imbued with the idea that Republican Ohio can be safely governed by Republicans."

"He has made it clear that as chief executive of Ohio he would be unbiased and unbosomed and in a position to give Ohio a clean, economical, law-upholding administration of public affairs."

"I confidently expect these next two weeks will demonstrate, said Mr. Huntington, that the slogan 'we Will Win With White' is not merely a foray into the fields of euphony, but a genuinely prophetic assurance to the Republicans of Ohio who hope to see the complete restoration of Republican rule in a Republican State."

During the coming week, Mr. White's itinerary embraces Massillon and environs and a visit to the McConnellsville and Malta districts.

AMUSEMENTS

Supporting Glenn Hunter in his first Paramount picture, "West of the Water Tower," now showing at the Met theater are three of the screen's best known character players, Ernest Torrence, George Fawcett and Zasu Pitts. All three have roles in this picture which give them an opportunity for some of the best work of their careers. Mr. Torrence, who in a little more than a year has become one of the most sought after character actors in pictures, has the role of Adrian Plummer, the orthodox minister. It is far different from his Bill Jackson in "The Covered Wagon," his clown in "Singed Wings" or his Cousin Egbert in "Ruggles of Red Gap," but he gives to the part a brilliant and distinguishing touch. He exudes personality all thru his work and no matter whether he is playing the part of a minister or that of a clown, he does not fail to give a masterful performance.

Mr. Fawcett has been doing excellent character work for so many years on the screen that it is no new thing to say that Fawcett has scored again. His work as Charles Chew an infidel in Homer Croy's dramatic novel is no exception to the superb technique he always shows. His work is greatly admired for its thoroughness.

Zusa Pitts, sometimes called "the girl with the sad face," but always able to get a laugh, has the thankless role of Dessie Arnhalt in the picture—thankless because in the end she is let out in the cold and does not win the man she loves. She almost makes the grade, but the scenario writer always fix it so Miss Pitts gets a chance to look sad.

Other players in support of Mr. Hunter in this production who are entitled to credit for excellent portrayals are May McAvoy, featured, Charles Abbe, Anne Schaefer, Riley Hatch, Joe Burke, Edward Elkus, Allen Baker, Jack Terry, Gladys Feldman and Alice Mann. The last showings of "West of the Water Tower" take place today.

AT THE COURT HOUSE

Divorce Granted.

A divorce was granted Esta Burke from J. Earl Burke by the probate court Tuesday on the grounds of gross neglect. An agreement by the parties on alimony was approved by the court. C. A. Leist represented the plaintiff and Charles Dresbach was attorney for the defendant.

Liquor at Whisler.

James Seymour, better known as "Coon" Seymour, and Howard Sibal, better known as "Dutch" Sibal, were placed under arrest at Whisler Tuesday by Sheriff Robert J. Young and Deputy Howard S. Irwin and were brought to this city together with a gallon jug of "moonshine". They were taken before Judge Joseph Adkins who fixed their bond at $500 each and in default, they were placed in the county jail.

FOR GOVERNOR

SUBJECT TO THE STATE REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES

"I stand for the home, the church, the school, the party and government as institutions to be used for the progress, protection and perfection of the race."

—J. F. BURKE.

Do you know that Senator Burke saved millions of the tax payers' money through his truck law for road protection?

Do you know that Senator Burke fought for the resolution to uncover graft in Highway contracts to protect the taxpayer?

Do you know that Senator Burke fought for every bill for the taxpayer and against special privilege and bosses?

The bosses and venal politicians, who prostitute politics to personal ends, who blight and ruin the reputation of men and parties through corrupt practices, declare that Senator Burke must not be elected. Not one of these is for him. There's a reason. Think it over.

Died at Home of Daughter Tuesday—
Funeral Thursday.

He was the son of Henry and Kathryn Lynch Crossly and was born in Pickaway county on the 10th day of March, 1855.

He was united in marriage to Mahala Hudson and to this union were born six children. The wife and two children preceded him in death. He is survived by the following children; Carrie, wife of Clinton Ward; Jesse Crossley, Bessie, wife of Dill Ward, Nannie, wife of Lawrence Wolf, all of near Ashville. Also the following brothers, of Columbus; Jacob, Lewis, James, Henry and Ezra.

He was a member of the Ashville Methodist Episcopal church and from it the funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. M. Chandler, Interment in Lockbourne cemetery.

Healthy Sleep

Often sleeplessness is accompanied by cold feet. The coldness is due to clogging the blood-stream; and this clogging is usually caused by wrong foods and drinks. When once the blood becomes pure and clean and strong, we are three-quarters of the way towards securing healthy sleep.

CONDITION SERIOUS.

The condition of Harry Hitchcock, who underwent an operation at Mt. Carmel hospital Columbus, over a week ago for appendicitis is precarious. The wound has refused to drain and inflammation has set in. A second incision became imperative Tuesday and his condition became so alarming that his family was sent for and they are now at his bedside.

At the last report he was somewhat better.

FIRE IN CAR.

A carload of pulp consigned to the paper mills at Chillicothe caught fire in a southbound Norfolk and Western railroad train at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The car was set off on a siding and the fire department was called. The blaze, which was in the interior, was soon extinguished without much loss.

Wood in Matches

Tons of wood are consumed weekly in Europe and America in the manufacture of matches, which were originated in 1827. One firm alone uses 625 tons of timber a week in its match output. The logs used average about a foot in diameter and ten feet in length. The match sticks are usually immersed in a solution that will prevent their smouldering, as one of the safety requirements.

Holds Office for Life

DIED OF CANCER

Mrs. Os Slagle Succumbed After Long Illness—Funeral Thursday.

Mrs. Os Slagle died at her home in New Holland Tuesday morning after having suffered with cancer for months. She had been confined to her bed, however, only a week. She was 49 years old.

Her husband and two sons survive, Mr. Harold Slagle, of Atlanta, and Paul, at home. She also leaves one grandchild, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Slagle.

The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at one o'clock at the Christian-Union church and burial will be made in the New Holland cemetery.

Immortal Marathon

Marathon is justly considered one of the decisive battles of the world. It broke the spell of Persian invincibility, which had previously paralyzed men's minds. It secured for mankind the intellectual treasures of Athens, the growth of free institutions, the liberal enlightenment of the western world, and the gradual ascendancy for many ages of the great principles of European civilization.

Everything Provided

One railroad of England is selling tickets that include transportation by rail, by automobile and complete board and lodgings in hotels.

"SOPHRONIA'S WEDDING."

The playlet "Sophronia's Wedding," will be given by home talent of the M. E. church of Five Points in the school building at Darbyville Friday evening, August 8, for the benefit of the grange. The admission will be 10 and 20 cents. This is the play that was to have been given some time ago, but was postponed on account of sickness.

HEARING THIS EVENING.

Clarence Dett, the evangelist for the Holiness sect, who was arrested on the charge of disturbing the peace and quiet of the South Court street neighborhood near Mill street, will have his trial before a jury in Mayor Fitzpatrick's court this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Music Lures Fishes

Additional evidence that fishes are able to hear has been produced by a German scientist. He fed blind fishes to a musical accompaniment. After the sixth day of this treatment the fishes always came up to the surface when the whistle blew. Once learned, the trick was never forgotten, the fishes always appearing on time during a thirty-day test.

KNIGHTS-TEMPLAR.

A stated conclave of Scioto commandery will be held in the Masonic temple Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Installation of officers and other important business. All members are urgently requested to be present.

COMMERCE DINNER.

The chamber of commerce members accompanied by their wives and children to the number of seventy-five, lunched with the members of the Lutheran church of Tarlton at the Salt-creek township centralized school grounds Tuesday evening. Rev. Romberger, of Tarlton, gave the guests from this city a hearty welcome and a most delicious fried chicken dinner was served to the throng. The members of the chamber of commerce will go to Nash next Tuesday evening.

HOME SOLD.

Matt C. and Margaret A. Smith sold their home located on South Court street to Albert F. and Birdie Carmen who now reside near Lancaster, Ohio, but will remove to our city and occupy their new home about August 14. Mr. Carmen has been employed as superintendent of the Pickaway township schools for the ensuing year. The sale was made by the Circle Realty Co.

First Requirement

If you learn how to master yourself you stand a chance of mastering your job.

KEEP COOL.

The thermometer registered only 69 at 4 p. m., in the "The Subway" at John J. Mack's confectionery store. A good place to get ice cream cones, pop, chocolate, peach and strawberry dopes. Open afternoons and evenings. 30julyd1w1.

FUNERAL OF

PAUL LUDWIG FRENK.
Funeral services for Paul Ludwig Frenk, son of Paul and Grace Ludwig Frenk, will be held from the home of Dewey Speakman on West Ohio street tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. G. J. Troutman will officiate. Burial in Forest cemetery.

Septuagint

The Septuagint is a Greek translation of the Hebrew Old Testament, so-called because traditionally believed to have been made by 70—or, more strictly, 72—Jews in 72 days, by order of Ptolemy Philadelphus (284-247 B. C.). Critics, however, declare it to be the work, not only of different hands, but also of different times. It probably made its appearance at Alexandria, Egypt, about 260 B. C.

Electric Currents

Electric currents may be induced by applying mechanical pressure to gelatinous surfaces and this "mechanoelectric" effect is supposed to be of great importance in explaining many electric effects in living organisms.

NOTICE.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the M. E. church, will meet in the church parlors(Thursday afternoon at 2 p. m.

FISH FRY.

The Colerain U. B. church will give a fish fry in the Delong grove between Adelphi and Hallsville Saturday, August 2. Music. An address will be made by Governor Donahey. 30julyd2w1.

To Clean a Watch

To keep the works of a watch clean cut a piece of white paper the size of the cover and, after soaking the paper in petrol, place it within the inner case. The paper should be periodically removed and a fresh piece, also soaked in petrol, substituted. The same plan may be adopted for small and medium-sized clocks.

MACK PARRETT

A Word from
Walter P. Chrysler

The same engineering genius which with the Chrysler has literally revolutionized practice and performance in the six-cylinder field, has now made the good Maxwell equally outstanding among four-cylinder cars.

My meaning is precisely this: That no other four-cylinder car—at anything like the Maxwell price—is giving the combination of performance, ease of riding and driving, economy, long life, and practical elimination of vibration, that the good Maxwell gives to its owners.

Cabinet Has Grown

When George Washington was President, there were five men sitting about the table with him as his first cabinet. Today when the Chief Executive calls his aides together there are ten occupying accredited department chairs. These departments are State, War, Navy, Treasury, Justice, Postoffice, Agriculture, Commerce, Labor and Interior.

Betting Machine

The "Pari-mutuel" or "totalizer" is a betting machine fitted with a number of receptacles. The backer places his stake in the receptacle appropriated to the horse he favors, and at the end of the race the supporters of the successful horse divide up all the money staked on the different horses, less 10 per cent, which goes to the owner of the machine.

Insects Dire Pest

In the Canary Islands insects, ants and similar pests are more than an ordinary nuisance, as residents of the northern countries understand such things. In the islands ants are so prevalent in places as to destroy furniture, clothing and foodstuffs. They are an eighth of an inch long. Likewise roaches are very numerous. The result is that the islands offer a great market for insecticides.

Carried Self-Esteem to Extreme Height

The most frankly conceited man, discloses himself in the last will and testament of George Norris, rich merchant, considered the most unpopular man in his home town, Penarth, Wales. He seems also to have been stubborn as well as conceited, observes Capper's Weekly, for he appropriated about $150,000 from his estate to these purposes:

Twenty-five dollars to every club, society, church or other organization in the town, provided they will display in their rooms or headquarters, perpetually, Mr. Norris' picture, suitably framed.

Annual prizes of $25 in each school in the town for the best essay produced by the children. The subject of each essay, however, must be on the life of George L. Norris. His picture must be hung in every school or the prize offer will be void.

A fund to provide free cigars and cigarettes for each meeting of the Penarth district council.

A fund to provide for the yearly celebration of his birthday on March 16, by a dinner to which all the town officers, clergymen and teachers are to be invited and each allowed to bring a friend.

A fund provides a $25 yearly prize to the couple who jointly saved the largest amount of money in the year before their marriage. They must agree to put Mr. Norris' picture in their home before getting the prize.

As if this was not enough, the first clause in Norris' will provides this man some self-made tribute shall be engraved on his tombstone:

"Here lies the remains of G. L. Norris who lived and died the happiest man on earth, who was always busy doing good and trying to advise people and help those in trouble. Those who followed his advice never went wrong." How he did hate himself!

Palladium in Legend

The Palladium was a famous wooden image of Pallas (Minerva), said to have been hurled from heaven by Zeus, and to have fallen near the tent of Ilius, while he was engaged in building Ilium (Troy). The oracle of Apollo having declared that the city should never be taken so long as Palladium was retained within its walls, the statue was placed in a sanctuary and carefully guarded. It was, however, finally stolen by Ulysses and Diomedes about 1184 B. C., and thus victory was secured to the Greeks. According to some accounts, Troy contained two Palladia, one of which was stolen and conveyed to one of the Greek cities, while the other was taken to Italy by Aeneas and secretly guarded by the Romans in the Temple of Vesta. The word "palladium" is sometimes used at the present day to signify a pledge of security and protection.—Kansas City Star.

Mongolian Art Relics

Treasures of early Mongolian art, first described by Marco Polo, 700 years ago, were included in the cargo of the President Jackson, arrived recently, says a Seattle (Wash.) dispatch to the New York World. The relics were discovered by L. Warner, archeologist of Harvard university, who has spent a year in Tibet.

After nine months of infinite labor in the destroyed city of Kara Khoto, listed as Edsina in history, Warner obtained fresco paintings, specimens of architecture and sculptor's work representing the high-water mark of the Mongolian art of the Fifth century.

These are far ahead of anything Chinese artists of today can produce and are fairly comparable to the work of European artists.

The relics are being crated for shipment to Harvard university.

And It Wasn't His Pin

A young man was paying me unusual attention; on my birthday he presented me with a beautiful barpin. I worried over the gift, and finally took it to the jeweler's. I explained to the young man in charge that my reason for wanting to know its value was that I wanted to return the pin if it was expensive, as I felt I didn't care enough for the gentleman who presented it to accept expensive gifts. The young jeweler admitted the pin was worth a fancy sum, told me how much he admired my honesty, and before I knew what was happening he was urging me to marry him. I was quite willing to accept his proposal. Happily enough, our trip to the altar has been a lasting one.—Chicago Journal.

Twins in Military Academy

As the first twins to enter at the same time as cadets or midshipmen service of the United States, Charles P. Huff, Jr., and George K. Huff of San Francisco, Cal., have enrolled at the Naval academy. They won their appointments by enlisting in the navy and entering the training school established for the preparation of the Pacific coast bluejackets for Annapolis.

Cat's Good Deed

A stray cat played guardian angel to an infant girl abandoned at night in the courtyard of St. Vincent de Paul's Roman Catholic church, New York. Crying constantly while it ran back and forth, the cat attracted Miss Susan Foster and her mother, who were about to enter the church. The woman followed the animal and found the baby, barely a month old, placed against the stone wall of the church.

200 MILLIONS IS INDIANS' DEMAND

Chickasaws Will Press Claim for Payment for Land in Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Payment for 6,000,000 acres of land in Oklahoma, once designated as a "leased district," that now has a value of probably $200,000,000, is to be asked of the United States government by the Chickasaw Indians, according to Douglas H. Johnston, governor of the Chickasaw nation, who returned recently from Washington, where he remained for six months looking after the interests of his people.

In a controversy, out of which a suit for payment will grow, are involved a doubtful construction of a treaty made in 1866 between the Chickasaws and the United States government and the pride of race exhibited by the Chickasaws when they declined to adopt freedom—negroes who have been slaves of the Indians—as members of the tribe, a consequence of which is that the Chickasaws have remained singularly free from intermixture with the negro race.

Were Lease Contracts.

The leased district, in what later was Oklahoma territory, covered lands once occupied by the Wichita and affiliated tribes. The Chickasaws hold that contracts covering it were lease contracts. This was an opinion expressed by the Court of Claims when the matter first was appealed. The United States Supreme court, however, held that contracts involved conveyances and that the lands were sold. The area was regarded by the government as public domain and sold to settlers for many millions of dollars.

"Under the treaty of 1866," says Governor Johnston, "the Chickasaws and Choctaws 'ceded' these western lands to the United States for certain specific purposes. These purposes were, among other things, for the settlement of friendly Indians, for the removal of Chickasaw and Choctaw freedmen and the settlement of such members of the tribe as might desire to remove thereto. The treaty also provided for a fund of $300,000, which was to be held in trust by the United States pending the removal or adoption of the freedmen. It was provided that the Chickasaw and Choctaw freedmen were to be removed if the tribe failed to adopt them within two years, in which event the $300,000 was to be used for removal. If the tribe adopted such freedmen within the time specified, they were to have the benefit of the $300,000.

Freedmen Never Adopted.

"The Chickasaw freedmen never were adopted. The tribe never has claimed nor has it ever received any part of the consideration. Whether the Choctaw freedmen legally were adopted always has been a question.

"Certain friendly Indians were settled on these lands under the provisions of the treaty. The right of Chickasaws and Choctaws to additional compensation for the land so used has been established by the action of congress in its direct appropriation of money for the payment of the same to the tribes. This money was paid out per capita in 1893 and is referred to as the 'leased district' payment. The lands for which compensation now is asked were comprised in the same area.

"The Indians hold that they made a lease and not a conveyance," says Governor Johnston. "Two great courts differed. The language of the treaty was sufficiently uncertain to support conflicting opinions of the courts."

Boy Scouts Demonstrate Worth of Preparedness

Boston, Mass.—A group of boys unable to help their injured comrade, and a party of boy scouts that arrived to administer first aid were participants in a recent demonstration of scout preparedness for emergency.

James West, of this city, while out for a day in the woods with some companions, was accidentally shot in the leg. The wound bled profusely while his frightened companions stood helpless, not knowing what to do.

At this moment Scouts Francis Adams, Hoyt Larson and Tom Barnard, out on a hike, appeared on the scene. Scout Adams took charge of the situation and sent his chums for help. He fashioned a tourniquet from his neckerchief and stopped the flow of blood. Cutting saplings he improvised a stretcher and with the assistance of the other boys started for home with the wounded lad.

They had gone only a mile when they met the boy's father, who had been notified of the accident by the two scouts and was hurrying to the scene in an automobile. He took his son to the hospital.

The scouts were only twelve years of age, but scout training had prepared them for the emergency.

Her 232d Arrest

Chicago.—Clara Meyers, fifty years old, according to the police, premier pickpocket for more than a decade, was arrested for the two hundred and thirty-second time. Clara, who has been in 12 penitentiaries and 62 jails, has paid fines aggregating more than $25,000, police records show. Clara will not deny her wealth, police say, but does admit that the first 100 arrests are the hardest.

Airplane Starters

The air service says that many of the larger types of airplanes have self-starters. The smaller planes have not, because the weight of the starters would decrease the speed of the machine, and speed is the vital element to the small, light plane used for combat purposes.

STATE RESTS IN MURDER CASE

Defense to Have Inning in Loeb-Leopold Hearing.

SLAYERS LIKELY TO TESTIFY

Confessions of the Two Youths Read by State's Attorney Crowe, Who Claim He Has Constructed a "Perfect Hanging Case"—Darrow Intimates He May Put Parents of Slay-ers on the Stand—Developments.

Chicago, July 30.—The state rested its case today in the hearing of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb for the slaying of Robert Franks. The defense opened its case immediately.

State's Attorney Crowe read the confessions of Leopold and Loeb, and constructed what he termed a "perfect hanging case." In one document read Leopold is quoted as stating that he believed he lost his spectacles, which led to the arrests, when he stumbled in the dust while disposing of the body of Robert. "There is only one way I can think of that I dropped the spectacles," Leopold said. "I had them in my pocket at the time we were carrying the body to the culvert. I stumbled and the glasses must have fallen out at the time."

Leopold's confession went over the ground frequently covered by Crowe. The confession showed how the boys discussed the kidnapping and murder last November, their plans for securing the ransom money and the method of escaping detection.

Leopold said they had no particular victim in mind, although when they made a "reconnoitering expedition," to the playground of the Harvard school, John Levinson, 9-year-old son of a Chicago corporation lawyer, was considered. But as Levinson left the playground unexpectedly, Leopold and Loeb came across Robert Franks and invited him into the car.

At this point Leopold's confession differed from Loeb's. Leopold said he was driving the car and that Loeb, sitting in the rear seat, reached one arm under Robert's chin—Robert was sitting in the front seat—and struck him over the head with the chisel. In almost every other respect the confessions are identical. Loeb's confession gives as the reason for the murder the desire for excitement, adventure and a "little money."

Chief Counsel Darrow of the defense intimated he would place Leopold and Loeb on the stand. In his determination to leave no stone unturned in the fight to save them from the gallows, Darrow said he was prepared to put on the witness stand the boy's parents, their friends and the boys themselves.

REBELS IN FLIGHT

Buenos Ayres, July 30.—According to messages received here, Brazilian troops are restoring order in Sao Paulo City. Governor Carlos De Campos has reassumed his position as chief of the state government. Martial law continues, however. The main column of the rebel troops, which evacuated Sao Paulo Monday, appears to have escaped into the interior. It is assumed here that the rebels are disbanding and fleeing toward the wild country of the interior of Mato Grosso. There can be no doubt that the rebellion is practically over and that the victory of the government of President Bernardes is complete.

The population of Sao Paulo (second city of Brazil, with 760,000 inhabitants when the rebellion started) has started returning to its homes and rebuilding of ruined property will begin at once.

Employees Save Records.

Columbus, July 30.—Employees saved 30,000 records stored in the industrial relations department offices in the state office building at Fourth and Main streets. A number of the records of workmen's compensation claims filed in wooden racks on the sixth floor of the building caught fire from the sun's rays directed through a skylight. Employees extinguished the blaze.

Bank Robbed.

Highland, Ill., July 30.—Between $30,000 and $40,000 was obtained by six bandits, who held up the First National bank here. The robbers forced Assistant Cashier Earl Malam, the only man in the bank, into the vault, after looting the cashier's cage. The yeggs escaped in a large touring car.

ATTACKS KLAN LEADERS

Former Head of Extension Department Makes Open Address.

Saginaw, Mich., July 30.—In an address before an open meeting here an attack was made on the leaders of the Ku Klux Klan by D. C. Stevenson of Indianapolis, former head of the Klan extension department. Stevenson criticized what he termed the mercenary formula that permits officials of the Klan organization to receive $4 of each $10 initiation fee. He censured Imperial Wizard Evans and other national officials, claiming that "some of them are in collusion with those the Klan is supposed to be fighting." While in sympathy with the principles of the organization, he said he is opposed to the present leadership. It was claimed that the meeting was held as the beginning of a movement by dissatisfied Klan members in Michigan to break away and form a new organization.

REPORT HELD UP, SENATOR SAYS

Representatives of the Sugar Interests Blamed.

LAFOLLETTE MAKES CHARGE

Final Report of Tariff Commission on Costs of Sugar Production Delayed, the Senator Says, by Sugar People Bringing Pressure "Through the Highest Official Channels of This Government."

Washington, July 30.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent candidate for president, issued a statement here charging that representatives of the sugar interests have delayed the final report of the United States tariff commission on the costs of sugar production by bringing pressure "through the highest official channels of this government."

La Follette alleged that the sugar interests have attempted to intimidate members of the tariff commission and otherwise obstruct the action of that body.

The commission's report is expected to recommend a 25 per cent revision downward on the tax on imported raw sugar. This would mean a reduction to the sugar consumers of the country, it is pointed out.

The La Follette statement refers to persistent rumors that the report of the tariff commission on the costs of production of sugar to determine whether the present duties on sugar should be raised or lowered under the flexible provisions of the tariff act, was ready to be made public. "But for some unexplained reason the report has been withheld," said La Follette. "It is well known that representatives of the sugar interests have been very busy in Washington actively using every influence and device to delay the completion of the investigation and the publication of the report."

The senator said the investigation should have been completed long ago. La Follette also cited the row in the tariff commission when it was disclosed that Commissioner Glassie's wife was interested in sugar production, and pointed out that Glassie was finally barred from participation in the investigation by congressional action. "The public has a right to know the exact status of the investigation," declared La Follette, "and I have therefore called upon the chairman of the commission for such facts as may be properly made public at this time."

FOR HIGHWAY WORK

Bids to Be Received Friday by State Department.

Columbus, July 30.—Bids will be received at the state highway department Friday for road projects totaling more than $1,850,000 and covering a distance of 46,926 miles. Included in the letting will be seven federal aided projects. The largest of the contracts is for improvement of the Ravenna-Louisville road, covering a distance of 3.5 miles, which it is estimated will cost $126,630. Four miles of the Zanesville-Cincinnati road is to be surface treated with waterbound macadam at an estimated cost of $76,810. Two roads are to be improved in Ross county, one, the Chillicothe-Logan road, for a distance of one mile, and another, the Chillicothe-Hillsboro road, for the same distance. Grading and drainage of the McArthur-Athens road will cost approximately $54,000 for the five miles it is to be improved. Improvement of both the Marietta-Athens road and the Marietta-Cambridge road are included in the call for bids.

Criticizes Governor Bryan.

Omaha, Neb., July 30.—"Governor Bryan, vice presidential nominee, has read himself out of the Democratic party by opposing full observance of defense day," General George B. Duncan, commanding the Seventh corps area of the army, said here. General Duncan said the Democratic national platform called for adequate army and navy protection and conscription of industry in case of war.

Wilson Knocks Out Malone.

Boston, July 30.—Johnny Wilson of New York, former middleweight champion, knocked out Jack Malone of St. Paul in the sixth round here. Wilson had the better of the going in the early rounds and sent Malone down for a count of eight in the second round with an attack to the head, which opened an old cut. Wilson weighed 159½ and Malone 154½.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Five Sisters Injured.

Columbus, July 30.—Mrs. Fannie Weisner and her four sisters, Misses Anna, Charlotte, Amelia and Ella Spero, all of New York city, were injured near this city when their machine crashed down a seven-foot embankment on the National highway, pinning its occupants beneath it. According to the story told an ambulance crew, the machine containing the women was crowded off the road when a heavy truck passed from the rear and cut in ahead. As the machine crashed down the embankment it turned over. Passing motorists extricated the victims. All will recover.

Damage by Storm.

Lorain, O., July 30.—Lightning, rain, wind and hail did thousands of dollars' damage in Lorain and other northern Ohio towns and spread consternation among persons on the streets and in a theater, who feared a repetition of the great tornado of June 28. The Metzger & Robinson clothing store was damaged in stock and fixtures to the amount of $15,000 when lightning, which followed electric wires down into the basement, ignited gas leaking from a corroded pipe.

Holdups Sent to Pen.

Cincinnati, July 30.—Harold Schmalzigan, 22, was sentenced to 15 years, imprisonment in the penitentiary, and his brother, Elmer Schmalzigan, 19, and Louis Luckey, 24, were sentenced each to serve 10 years, after they pleaded guilty to having held up and robbed inmates of a rooming house here on the night of May 15 last.

Kidnaping Alleged.

Cleveland, July 30.—Police are searching for Mrs. Phoebe Wood, a nurse, charged with kidnaping Dorothy May Blanchard, 5. The search has spread to Detroit and Ann Arbor, Mich., where the missing woman has relatives and where police believe she may have gone after gaining possession of the child.

Cashier Held Up.

Cleveland, July 30.—A robber held up Harold Horton, substitute cashier of the East Cleveland branch of the City Savings and Loan company, and escaped with between $800 and $900. Horton was alone in the office when the bandit entered.

Arrested by Dry Agents.

Marysville, O., July 30.—John Shy of Columbus is held here on a charge of transporting and possessing liquor. He was arrested by local dry sleuths as he entered the city. Officers say they found 60 gallons of liquor in his car.

Girl Drowned.

Toledo, July 30.—Anna Carr, 14, was drowned at Niles Beach, 10 miles east of here, while she was bathing with Orville Thompson, 19, and Mildred Hughes, 18, neighbors.

Governor Small on Stand.

Springfield, Ill., July 30.—Governor Len Small, on the witness stand in the civil suits filed by Attorney General Edward J. Brundige, denied that he had ever withheld from the state one cent that was due from interest on state funds, while he was treasurer. The governor bared the story of his life and told how he had accumulated his money. The governor testified before Master in Chancery Charles G. Briggie.

SMALLER NATIONS TO OBJECT

London, July 30.—Yielding her rights to separate action, France will propose to offer the military evacuation of the Ruhr in October, according to reports published here.

France is said to have yielded under pressure from the American-British banking group. This is regarded as the turning point in the inter-allied reparations conference which now only awaits a formal offer from France to this machinery of the experts' plan.

It is stated that in return, France wants absolute priority to the first 26 billion gold francs collected as reparations under the Dawes-McKenna plan. The figure named by the French covers the remaining cost of restoring the French devastated regions.

The proposal is certain to arouse a storm of protest from the Belgians, Italians and all smaller nations who have a claim to reparations. The British may object and even the cost of the United States army of occupation, which had a certain priority, would be prejudiced.

The presence of the French in the Ruhr had been the main stumbling block to acquiescence by the banking groups in the proposed terms of an international loan to Germany. Now Herriot is about to offer to get out for 26 billion gold franc. The French also will safeguard themselves by putting a clause in the formula providing for appeal to arbitration against majority decisions on sanctions.

Secretary of State Hughes in a statement in Paris said the "thought of failure of the London conference is too grave to be considered in cold blood." "I have the firmest confidence that the conference will find a solution. Everybody I met in London said so."

STATE BEGINS DRIVE IN FEDERAL COURT

Would Maintain Valuation of Utility Companies.

Columbus, July 30.—Motions were filed by the state in federal court here asking dismissal of a number of suits brought by utility corporations against county treasurers to enjoin them from collecting taxes for the last half of 1923.

Bases for these suits, in most instances, are that the tax commission, in fixing the valuation, placed the utility property on the duplicate at its true value in money, whereas other real estate in the county was taxed at only about 50 to 75 per cent of its true value, and that the valuation of the utility property exceeds the real value.

The suits followed a favorable decision in a similar action brought two years ago by the Dayton Street Railway company, when Judge Sater, following a lengthy hearing before a master commissioner, ordered the county auditor of Montgomery county to reduce the valuation of the company 40 per cent from the figure fixed by the tax commission.

In the motions filed here, prepared by Wilbur E. Benoy, special counsel, and Joseph I. Eagleson, first assistant attorney general, jurisdiction of the federal court is questioned on the ground that the utility companies have not exhausted all of their remedies in the state courts.

Filing of the motions, it is believed, means a complete reversal of the policy heretofore followed by the state courts, and it is thought to mark the beginning of one of the hardest fought legal battles in the history of the commonwealth to hold up the valuation of utility companies.

ANTHRAX SPREADING

Federal and State Officials Move to Check Disease in South.

Memphis, Tenn., July 30.—Spread of anthrax in Mississippi, Tennessee and Arkansas has engaged the attention of federal and state officials. More than a score of persons and approximately 7,000 head of the disease are reported to have died of the disease. Reports indicated a serious situation in Mississippi and Arkansas, while certain small areas in Tennessee, Louisiana and Missouri were said to be infected.

Governor Henry L. Whitfield of Mississippi said 25 counties in that state had infected herds and that about 16 persons had died. The superintendent of the state health department at Jackson said, however, that only six deaths had been reported officially.

Arkansas reported 20 infected counties, with a death list of six or eight persons. Five counties in Tennessee are infected, the state veterinarian reported.

Senator McKellar of Tennessee sent a telegram to Secretary Henry C. Wallace of the United States department of agriculture, urging the aid of the department in the campaign against the disease.

Surety Bonds Cancelled.

Columbus, July 30.—Surety bonds of $370,000, fixed a year ago for receivers of the Florida Farms and North Carolina Farms, subsidiary organizations of the R. L. Dollings company, were canceled by Judge Kinkead, when the receivers reported they have no money with which to pay premiums on the bonds, "no assets whatever having come into their hands." New bonds of $1,000 each for the six receivers were fixed by the court.

TO OBSERVE DEFENSE DAY

Patriotic Demonstration Will Feature Occasion in Ohio.

Columbus, July 30.—National Defense day, the sixth anniversary of the battle of St. Mihiel, will be appropriately observed in Ohio. The day will be given over to patriotic demonstrations and is meant to show the military defense strength that could be mobilized upon call, army officials say.

Plans for the day's observance are under way throughout the state, the committee appointed by Governor Donahay announced. Members of the committee are: Judge S. C. Root-tinger, Cincinnati; Judge Albert H. Morrill, Cincinnati; Colonel Richard M. McMasters, chief of staff, Eighty-third division, Fort Hayes, and Adjutant General Frank Henderson. County committees and subcommittees will be named by the state group to form plans for local demonstrations. All units of the Ohio national guard and the regular army will be mobilized and industrial and civic forces of cities may also participate.

Now in Eastern Zone.

Washington, July 30.—The interstate commerce commission modified its order defining the boundary between central and eastern standard time zones, so as to include in the eastern zone the cities of Findlay, Kenton and Marysville, O.

Mother Seal Brings Up Family Strictly

Maternal discipline is as pronounced among the seal families as among human beings, according to men who have spent many years along the shores of Cook Inlet, Alaska, and have studied aquatic life there.

From the time a baby seal is laid snugly within a bed of dry seaweed until he receives a final spanking and is directed to hustle for himself, he is subjected to unrelenting discipline. Contrary to popular belief, a baby seal is as helpless in the water at birth as a human baby would be. It must be taught to swim and instructed in all the lore of seal life, including how to hunt food and escape its enemies.

Charles Coach, who has made hair seal hunting a business for years, says he has watched a mother seal teaching her baby to swim. The mother would flounder out on the rocky shore, gather the baby under her flipper and slip carefully into the water. Suspending the baby on her flipper, she would bark, grunt, whine and wheedle to indicate what was desired. If the baby refused to perform, it was effectively spanked with the mother's flipper. The young seal gradually learns to swim by floundering a few strokes at a time, with the mother snatching it from danger every time it becomes exhausted or starts to sink.

Some of the beachcombers adopt baby seals as pets. They become as faithful as dogs and, if one decides to banish them, are as hard to get rid of as cats. An instance was cited where a baby seal was taken out to sea in the hope that it would reunite with its herd. About midnight there was a plaintive wail at the cabin door. Like the traditional cat, the seal had come back. He howled until he was admitted to the family circle and fed a piece of fish.

When Pets Become Plagues.

Pets carried to new lands often turn up years later as plagues. The wild pigs of New Zealand are the offspring of the pet porkers carried there and left by the Spanish explorers to the Galapagos Islands. The pigs on the island and later in New Zealand became so thick that it was a common occurrence for a hunter to bag fifty in a day. Goats first left as pets on St. Helena by the Portuguese in 1518, became so numerous as to bring destruction to forests.

HERRICK REFRIGERATORS

The Big Difference In Refrigerators

The main object of any refrigerator, of course, is the preservation of foods. The refrigerator that will keep foods in perfect condition longest is naturally the refrigerator you want—provided it doesn't increase your ice bills.

The Herick answers those requirements with facts—not claims. And it does even more. It actually decreases your ice bills while giving you more effective food preservation.

And why? Simply because the Herick is far more than an ice box—far more than a cold storage place. It is built on the scientifically demonstrated principle that more than merely cold air is necessary to keep foods in good condition for any great length of time.

Perhaps the biggest essentials to scientifically correct refrigeration are—

- No. 1. Circulation of cold dry air.
- No. 2. Effective insulation.
- No. 3. Air-tight construction.

That the Herick has these necessary essentials is a demonstrated fact.

Many proofs of the truth are visible even to the least informed purchaser. Others are hidden within the walls of the refrigerator, but nevertheless there, performing their functions so important to good health and economy.

SENTIMENT IN BUSINESS.

"I never let sentiment influence me in business." This was the explanation offered by a banker relative to a framed motto over his desk, reading, "He laughs best who laughs last."

Is business something cold, cruel, hard, selfish, utterly mercenary? Does it demand that during the hours we spend at it we must be less than human? Is business an invention of the devil?

Or can business be made as human as human nature itself? Can it be a source of satisfaction? Can it afford us an arena in which to cultivate and develop the finest faculties and instincts God implanted in us? Business, after all, is only another name for work. And is it not work that makes men of us all? Is it not work that yields us opportunities to grow and serve? Crush out all sentiment from our daily lives and think you, would man rise to nobler heights or sink to deeper depths? He who scorns the thought of sentiment in business has miserably failed to learn the art of living.

May Providence preserve you and preserve me from spending our lives in a business into which no sentiment is ever allowed to enter.

THE RADIO

The radio promises to put the international cable service out of business. Besides establishing communication between the United States and Great Britain experiments recently conducted have carried the human voice across 10,000 meters of space between Cornwall, England, and Sydney Heads, Australia, the words being heard in 1-18th of a second after uttered. That comes close to the "dream" of the advocate of thought telepathy, which will also be possible when the sounding board of the human piano is properly attuned or sensitized.

The Panama Canal is one government owned and managed institution that pays well. August 15, will be the tenth anniversary of its official opening to traffic. Since that date it has earned more than $27,000,000 and the income during the next ten years will be more than $25,000,000 per year.

40 STATE FLAGS NOW
IN P. O. COLLECTION

Department Boasts Best Assortment in Country.

Washington.—With 40 state standards in its possession presented by organizations and individuals, and prospects of receiving those of the remaining states, the Post Office department boasts the most complete collection of official state flags in the country.

The flags of Ohio, Utah, Montana and Kentucky recently were presented and accepted ceremoniously by Postmaster General New.

The only states not now represented in the collection are Arizona, Kansas, Mississippi, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Washington and Wyoming. Inquiries concerning presentation of a flag have been received from all but Nevada and New Mexico, Hawaii and Porto Rico flags are included in the 40 now preserved by the department, but there is none from the District of Columbia, which has no official flag. Alaska, Guam, Samoa or the Virgin Islands.

Presentation of the flag of Nebraska recently by the Railway Mail Service association of Lincoln and Omaha was accomplished only after the difficulty of ascertaining the design.

Appeals to the secretary of state and adjutant general of the state brought responses that the state had no flag and senators and congressmen from the state knew of none. It was finally determined the state's official seal on a field of gold had been recognized as the Nebraska state flag. It is understood Kansas has no law prescribing a state flag, and as soon as one is adopted a flag for the Post Office department's collection is promised.

Easterner Makes Farm
Safe for Feathered Folk

North Andover, Mass.—Because he is a lover of birds, and also of cats, and because, further, he realizes that birds and cats do not especially fraternize, and the latter usually kill the little feathered folk, Richard Russell, owner of a big farm here, has adopted an unusual method to try to make his farm safe for birds while at the same time his 25 pet cats may still enjoy their usual freedom of roaming the hills and dales at will.

Apparently following the principle that highways traveled by automobiles are made safe for pedestrians by the requirement of horns on all autos, the tooting of which will warn pedestrians, Mr. Russell has issued a decree that each one of his cats must wear a collar equipped with bells.

Find Fossilized Skeleton
of Man 45 Feet in Height

Belgrade, Yugo-Slavia.—The fossilized skeleton of a prehistoric man 45 feet tall has been discovered near the village of Chitip. The petrified remains were buried 20 feet under the ground and were dug up by workmen building a railroad. The skeleton will be taken to the national museum here. Its entirely preserved teeth are 13 inches long.

Breeding Ladybugs

Santa Barbara, Cal.—After long preparations the county has started to breed ladybugs to sell to the lemon growers of this district. Several months ago the county built an insectary in which to propagate ladybugs to fight the mealybug which has gained a foothold on the lemon orchards in Carpinteria and which threatens to spread through the county.

Baby Bandit, Latest

Pueblo, Colo.—Pueblo postal authorities and city detectives discovered the source of several recent post office thefts, and announced that two small boys, seven to nine years old, were the responsible persons. The boys led the detectives to their hiding place and showed them a pile of ashes which they said was what was left of the checks and papers.

Some Cow!

Escalon, Cal.—A Jersey cow owned by a local dairyman is twenty-two years old and listed as one of the oldest Jerseys in America, yet she gives evidence of good years to come. She recently dropped her twenty-second calf. She gives four gallons of milk and produces more than forty pounds of butterfat monthly.

Error in Route Leads to Founding of City

Seattle, Wash.—The founding of Fairbanks, Alaska, in 1902, was due to a mistake in taking a water route by Capt. John Barnette.

Captain Barnette sailed up the Yukon river. Furnished with some of the inaccurate maps of the period, he mistook the Chena slough for the Tanana river and sailed to the present site of Fairbanks before discovering his error. He was forced to discharge the greater part of his cargo of trade goods to lighten the boat in maneuvering it back to the main stream. When he discovered the possibilities of the place, he built a log store.

FOR GOVERNOR

Sentiment for James A. White is Growing in State.

"Developments marking the progress of the primary campaign of the past few weeks, permits his friends to say, with some degree of finality, that James A. White will be the Republican nominee for governor of Ohio," said Hugh Huntington, chairman of the White-for-Governor committee recently.

"From the very inception of the campaign," said Mr. Huntington, "The Republican electorate of Ohio has recognized the fact that it was to be a case of the field against White. Now, even the most seasoned of the party's politicians are awakening to a realization of the fact that it is a case of White against the field."

"The confidence of the prediction that Mr. White will be the Republican nominee for governor, is based not only upon the enthusiastic, voluntary pledges of support that have come to him during the course of his initial speaking tour but also upon the hundreds of messages that have come from every city and village in the state to his headquarters in the Rowlands building, bearing assurances of loyalty and good will which strikingly demonstrate the truth of the oft-repeated political statement that 'Jim White has a stronger personal following than any other one man in Ohio.'"

"During the past two weeks Mr. White has made a tour of the counties bordering Lake Erie which twice carried him from the Indiana line to the Pennsylvania line. He has made many public addresses and had been received enthusiastically in Akron, Canton, Youngstown, Cleveland, Warren, Sandusky, Toledo, Norwalk, Waukegan and numerous smaller communities. And in addition to presenting his views on questions in which Ohio voters are vitally interested, Mr. White has exercised his wonderful talent as an organizer to such an extent that corps of enthusiastic workers have been developed in every section visited to advance his candidacy. This has been done in an area of the state whence come many of the candidates who share with him the appeal for favor at the hands of Ohio Republicans."

"That some stabilizing influence is needed in the Republican politics of Ohio is generally conceded, and the steady drift of political sentiment toward the White candidacy, which will be even more strongly accentuated within the next two weeks, is clearly indicative of the fact that Jim White is being more and more recognized as the needed anchor of stability at a time when man and women of party faith are becoming deeply imbued with the idea that Republican Ohio can be safely governed by Republicans."

"He has made it clear that as chief executive of Ohio he would be unbiased and unbosomed and in a position to give Ohio a clean, economical, law-upholding administration of public affairs."

"I confidently expect these next two weeks will demonstrate, said Mr. Huntington, that the slogan 'we Will Win With White' is not merely a foray into the fields of euphony, but a genuinely prophetic assurance to the Republicans of Ohio who hope to see the complete restoration of Republican rule in a Republican State."

During the coming week, Mr. White's itinerary embraces Massillon and environs and a visit to the McConnelville and Malta districts.

Supporting Glenn Hunter in his first Paramount picture, "West of the Water Tower," now showing at the Met theater are three of the screen's best known character players, Ernest Torrence, George Fawcett and Zasu Pitts. All three have roles in this picture which give them an opportunity for some of the best work of their careers. Mr. Torrence, who in a little more than a year has become one of the most sought after character actors in pictures, has the role of Adrian Plummer, the orthodox minister. It is far different from his Bill Jackson in "The Covered Wagon," his clown in "Singed Wings" or his Cousin Egbert in "Ruggles of Red Gap," but he gives to the part a brilliant and distinguishing touch. He exudes personality all thru his work and no matter whether he is playing the part of a minister or that of a clown, he does not fail to give a masterful performance.

Mr. Fawcett has been doing excellent character work for so many years on the screen that it is no new thing to say that Fawcett has scored again. His work as Charles Chew an infidel in Homer Croy's dramatic novel is no exception to the superb technique he always shows. His work is greatly admired for its thoroughness.

Zusa Pitts, sometimes called "the girl with the sad face," but always able to get a laugh, has the thankless role of Dessie Arnhalt in the picture—thankless because in the end she is let out in the cold and does not win the man she loves. She almost makes the grade, but the scenario writer always fix it so Miss Pitts gets a chance to look sad.

Other players in support of Mr. Hunter in this production who are entitled to credit for excellent portrayals are May McAvoy, featured, Charles Abbe, Anne Schaefer, Riley Hatch, Joe Burke, Edward Elkus, Allen Baker, Jack Terry, Gladys Feldman and Alice Mann. The last showings of "West of the Water Tower" take place today.

AT THE COURT HOUSE

Divorce Granted.

A divorce was granted Esta Burke from J. Earl Burke by the probate court Tuesday on the grounds of gross neglect. An agreement by the parties on alimony was approved by the court. C. A. Leist represented the plaintiff and Charles Dresbach was attorney for the defendant.

Liquor at Whisler.

James Seymour, better known as "Coon" Seymour, and Howard Sibal, better known as "Dutch" Sibal, were placed under arrest at Whisler Tuesday by Sheriff Robert J. Young and Deputy Howard S. Irwin and were brought to this city together with a gallon jug of "moonshine". They were taken before Judge Joseph Adkins who fixed their bond at $500 each and in default, they were placed in the county jail.

SENATOR J. F. BURKE

OF ELYRIA, LORAIN COUNTY

FOR GOVERNOR

SUBJECT TO THE STATE REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES

"I stand for the home, the church, the school, the party and government as institutions to be used for the progress, protection and perfection of the race."

—J. F. BURKE.

Do you know that Senator Burke saved millions of the tax payers' money through his truck law for road protection?

Do you know that Senator Burke fought for the resolution to uncover graft in Highway contracts to protect the taxpayer?

Do you know that Senator Burke fought for every bill for the taxpayer and against special privilege and bosses?

The bosses and venal politicians, who prostitute politics to personal ends, who blight and ruin the reputation of men and parties through corrupt practices, declare that Senator Burke must not be elected. Not one of these is for him. There's a reason. Think it over.

J. W. CROSSLY

Died at Home of Daughter Tuesday—
Funeral Thursday.

Joseph W. Crossly died Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Wolf, in Walnut township.

He was the son of Henry and Kathryn Lynch Crossly and was born in Pickaway county on the 10th day of March, 1855.

He was united in marriage to Mahala Hudson and to this union were born six children. The wife and two children preceded him in death. He is survived by the following children; Carrie, wife of Clinton Ward; Jesse Crossley, Bessie, wife of Dill Ward, Nannie, wife of Lawrence Wolf, all of near Ashville. Also the following brothers, of Columbus; Jacob, Lewis, James, Henry and Ezra.

He was a member of the Ashville Methodist Episcopal church and from it the funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. M. Chandler. Interment in Lockbourne cemetery.

Healthy Sleep

Often sleeplessness is accompanied by cold feet. The coldness is due to clogging the blood-stream; and this clogging is usually caused by wrong foods and drinks. When once the blood becomes pure and clean and strong, we are three-quarters of the way towards securing healthy sleep.

CONDITION SERIOUS.

The condition of Harry Hitchcock, who underwent an operation at Mt. Carmel hospital Columbus, over a week ago for appendicitis is precarious. The wound has refused to drain and inflammation has set in. A second incision became imperative Tuesday and his condition became so alarming that his family was sent for and they are now at his bedside.

At the last report he was somewhat better.

FIRE IN CAR.

A carload of pulp consigned to the paper mills at Chillicothe caught fire in a southbound Norfolk and Western railroad train at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The car was set off on a siding and the fire department was called. The blaze, which was in the interior, was soon extinguished without much loss.

Wood in Matches

Tons of wood are consumed weekly in Europe and America in the manufacture of matches, which were originated in 1827. One firm alone uses 625 tons of timber a week in its match output. The logs used average about a foot in diameter and ten feet in length. The match sticks are usually immersed in a solution that will prevent their smouldering, as one of the safety requirements.

The English poet laureate holds his appointment for life, and is not affected by a change of government.

DIED OF CANCER

Mrs. Os Slagle Succumbed After Long
Illness—Funeral Thursday.

Mrs. Os Slagle died at her home in New Holland Tuesday morning after having suffered with cancer for months. She had been confined to her bed, however, only a week. She was 49 years old.

Her husband and two sons survive, Mr. Harold Slagle, of Atlanta, and Paul, at home. She also leaves one grandchild, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Slagle.

The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at one o'clock at the Christian-Union church and burial will be made in the New Holland cemetery.

Immortal Marathon

Marathon is justly considered one of the decisive battles of the world. It broke the spell of Persian invincibility, which had previously paralyzed men's minds. It secured for mankind the intellectual treasures of Athens, the growth of free institutions, the liberal enlightenment of the western world and the gradual ascendancy for many ages of the great principles of European civilization.

"SOPHRONIA'S WEDDING."

The playlet "Sophronia's Wedding," will be given by home talent of the M. E. church of Five Points in the school building at Darbyville Friday evening, August 8, for the benefit of the grange. The admission will be 10 and 20 cents. This is the play that was to have been given some time ago, but was postponed on account of sickness.

HEARING THIS EVENING.

Clarence Dett, the evangelist for the Holiness sect, who was arrested on the charge of disturbing the peace and quiet of the South Court street neighborhood near Mill street, will have his trial before a jury in Mayor Fitzpatrick's court this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Music Lures Fishes

Additional evidence that fishes are able to hear has been produced by a German scientist. He fed blind fishes to a musical accompaniment. After the sixth day of this treatment the fishes always came up to the surface when the whistle blew. Once learned, the trick was never forgotten, the fishes always appearing on time during a thirty-day test.

KNIGHTS-TEMPLAR.

A stated convocation of Scioto commandery will be held in the Masonic temple Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Installation of officers and other important business. All members are urgently requested to be present.

COMMERCE DINNER.

The chamber of commerce members accompanied by their wives and children to the number of seventy-five, lunched with the members of the Lutheran church of Tarlton at the Salt-creek township centralized school grounds Tuesday evening. Rev. Romberger, of Tarlton, gave the guests from this city a hearty welcome and a most delicious fried chicken dinner was served to the throng. The members of the chamber of commerce will go to Nash next Tuesday evening.

HOME SOLD.

Matt C. and Margaret A. Smith sold their home located on South Court street to Albert F. and Birdie Carmen who now reside near Lancaster, Ohio, but will remove to our city and occupy their new home about August 14. Mr. Carmen has been employed as superintendent of the Pickaway township schools for the ensuing year. The sale was made by the Circle Realty Co.

KEEP COOL.

The thermometer registered only 69 at 4 p. m., in the "The Subway" at John J. Mack's confectionery store. A good place to get ice cream cones, pop, chocolate, peach and strawberry dopes. Open afternoons and evenings, 30julyd1w1.

FUNERAL OF

PAUL LUDWIG FRENK.

Funeral services for Paul Ludwig Frenk, son of Paul and Grace Ludwig Frenk, will be held from the home of Dewey Speakman on West Ohio street tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. G. J. Troutman will officiate. Burial in Forest cemetery.

Septuagint

The Septuagint is a Greek translation of the Hebrew Old Testament, so-called because traditionally believed to have been made by 70—or, more strictly, 72—Jews in 72 days, by order of Ptolemy Philadelphus (284-247 B. C.). Critics, however, declare it to be the work, not only of different hands, but also of different times. It probably made its appearance at Alexandria, Egypt, about 260 B. C.

Electric Currents

Electric currents may be induced by applying mechanical pressure to gelatinous surfaces and this "mechanoelectric" effect is supposed to be of great importance in explaining many electric effects in living organisms.

NOTICE.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the M. E. church, will meet in the church parlors(Thursday afternoon at 2 p. m.

To Clean a Watch

To keep the works of a watch clean cut a piece of white paper the size of the cover and, after soaking the paper in petrol, place it within the inner case. The paper should be periodically removed and a fresh piece, also soaked in petrol, substituted. The same plan may be adopted for small and medium-sized clocks.

Cabinet Has Grown

When George Washington was President, there were five men sitting about the table with him as his first cabinet. Today when the Chief Executive calls his aides together there are ten occupying accredited department chairs. These departments are State, War, Navy, Treasury, Justice, Postoffice, Agriculture, Commerce, Labor and Interior.

Betting Machine

The "Pari-mutuel" or "totalizer" is a betting machine fitted with a number of receptacles. The backer places his stake in the receptacle appropriated to the horse he favors, and at the end of the race the supporters of the successful horse divide up all the money staked on the different horses, less 10 per cent, which goes to the owner of the machine.

A Word from
Walter P. Chrysler

The same engineering genius which with the Chrysler has literally revolutionized practice and performance in the six-cylinder field, has now made the good Maxwell equally outstanding among four-cylinder cars.

My meaning is precisely this: That no other four-cylinder car—at anything like the Maxwell price—is giving the combination of performance, ease of riding and driving, economy, long life, and practical elimination of vibration, that the good Maxwell gives to its owners.

Insects Dire Pest

In the Canary Islands insects, ants and similar pests are more than an ordinary nuisance, as residents of the northern countries understand such things. In the islands ants are so prevalent in places as to destroy furniture, clothing and foodstuffs. They are an eighth of an inch long. Likewise roaches are very numerous. The result is that the islands offer a great market for insecticides.

Carried Self-Esteem to Extreme Height

The most frankly conceited man, discloses himself in the last will and testament of George Norris, rich merchant, considered the most unpopular man in his home town, Penarth, Wales. He seems also to have been stubborn as well as conceited, observes Capper's Weekly, for he appropriated about $150,000 from his estate to these purposes:

Twenty-five dollars to every club, society, church or other organization in the town, provided they will display in their rooms or headquarters, perpetually, Mr. Norris' picture, suitably framed.

Annual prizes of $25 in each school in the town for the best essay produced by the children. The subject of each essay, however, must be on the life of George L. Norris. His picture must be hung in every school or the prize offer will be void.

A fund to provide free cigars and cigarettes for each meeting of the Penarth district council.

A fund to provide for the yearly celebration of his birthday on March 16, by a dinner to which all the town officers, clergymen and teachers are to be invited and each allowed to bring a friend.

A fund provides a $25 yearly prize to the couple who jointly saved the largest amount of money in the year before their marriage. They must agree to put Mr. Norris' picture in their home before getting the prize.

As if this was not enough, the first clause in Norris' will provides this handsome self-made tribute shall be engraved on his tombstone:

"Here lies the remains of G. L. Norris who lived and died the happiest man on earth, who was always busy doing good and trying to advise people and help those in trouble. Those who followed his advice never went wrong." How he did hate himself!

Palladium in Legend

The Palladium was a famous wooden image of Pallas (Minerva), said to have been hurled from heaven by Zeus, and to have fallen near the tent of Ilius, while he was engaged in building Ilium (Troy). The oracle of Apollo having declared that the city should never be taken so long as Palladium was retained within its walls, the statue was placed in a sanctuary and carefully guarded. It was, however, finally stolen by Ulysses and Diomedes about 1184 B. C., and thus victory was secured to the Greeks. According to some accounts, Troy contained two Palladia, one of which was stolen and conveyed to one of the Greek cities, while the other was taken to Italy by Aeneas and secretly guarded by the Romans in the Temple of Vesta. The word "palladium" is sometimes used at the present day to signify a pledge of security and protection.—Kansas City Star.

Mongolian Art Relics

Treasures of early Mongolian art, first described by Marco Polo, 700 years ago, were included in the cargo of the President Jackson, arrived recently, says a Seattle (Wash.) dispatch to the New York World. The relics were discovered by L. Warner, archeologist of Harvard university, who has spent a year in Tibet.

After nine months of infinite labor in the destroyed city of Kara Khoto, listed as Edsina in history, Warner obtained fresco paintings, specimens of architecture and sculptor's work representing the high-water mark of the Mongolian art of the Fifth century.

These are far ahead of anything Chinese artists of today can produce and are fairly comparable to the work of European artists.

The relics are being crated for shipment to Harvard university.

And It Wasn't His Pin

A young man was paying me unusual attention; on my birthday he presented me with a beautiful barpin. I worried over the gift, and finally took it to the jeweler's. I explained to the young man in charge that my reason for wanting to know its value was that I wanted to return the pin if it was expensive, as I felt I didn't care enough for the gentleman who presented it to accept expensive gifts. The young jeweler admitted the pin was worth a fancy sum, told me how much he admired my honesty, and before I knew what was happening he was urging me to marry him. I was quite willing to accept his proposal. Happily enough, our trip to the altar has been a lasting one.—Chicago Journal.

Twins in Military Academy

As the first twins to enter at the same time as cadets or midshipmen service of the United States, Charles P. Huff, Jr., and George K. Huff of San Francisco, Cal., have enrolled at the Naval academy. They won their appointments by enlisting in the navy and entering the training school established for the preparation of the Pacific coast bluejackets for Annapolis.

Cat's Good Deed

A stray cat played guardian angel to an infant girl abandoned at night in the courtyard of St. Vincent de Paul's Roman Catholic church, New York. Crying constantly while it ran back and forth, the cat attracted Miss Susan Foster and her mother, who were about to enter the church. The woman followed the animal and found the baby, barely a month old, placed against the stone wall of the church.

200 MILLIONS IS INDIANS' DEMAND

Chickasaws Will Press Claim for Payment for Land in Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Payment for 6,000,000 acres of land in Oklahoma, once designated as a "leased district," that now has a value of probably $200,000,000, is to be asked of the United States government by the Chickasaw Indians, according to Douglas H. Johnston, governor of the Chickasaw nation, who returned recently from Washington, where he remained for six months looking after the interests of his people.

In a controversy, out of which a suit for payment will grow, are involved a doubtful construction of a treaty made in 1866 between the Chickasaws and the United States government and the pride of race exhibited by the Chickasaws when they declined to adopt freedom—negroes who have been slaves of the Indians—as members of the tribe, a consequence of which is that the Chickasaws have remained singularly free from intermixture with the negro race.

Were Lease Contracts.

The leased district, in what later was Oklahoma territory, covered lands once occupied by the Wichita and affiliated tribes. The Chickasaws hold that contracts covering it were lease contracts. This was an opinion expressed by the Court of Claims when the matter first was appealed. The United States Supreme court, however, held that contracts involved conveyances and that the lands were sold. The area was regarded by the government as public domain and sold to settlers for many millions of dollars.

"Under the treaty of 1866," says Governor Johnston, "the Chickasaws and Croctaws 'ceded' these western lands to the United States for certain specific purposes. These purposes were, among other things, for the settlement of friendly Indians, for the removal of Chickasaw and Choctaw freedmen and the settlement of such members of the tribe as might desire to remove thereto. The treaty also provided for a fund of $300,000, which was to be held in trust by the United States pending the removal or adoption of the freedmen. It was provided that the Chickasaw and Choctaw freedmen were to be removed if the tribe failed to adopt them within two years, in which event the $300,000 was to be used for removal. If the tribe adopted such freedmen within the time specified, they were to have the benefit of the $300,000.

Freedmen Never Adopted.

"The Chickasaw freedmen never were adopted. The tribe never has claimed nor has it ever received any part of the consideration. Whether the Choctaw freedmen legally were adopted always has been a question.

"Certain friendly Indians were settled on these lands under the provisions of the treaty. The right of Chickasaws and Choctaws to additional compensation for the land so used has been established by the action of congress in its direct appropriation of money for the payment of the same to the tribes. This money was paid out per capita in 1893 and is referred to as the 'leased district' payment. The lands for which compensation now is asked were comprised in the same area.

"The Indians hold that they made a lease and not a conveyance," says Governor Johnston. "Two great courts differed. The language of the treaty was sufficiently uncertain to support conflicting opinions of the courts."

Boy Scouts Demonstrate Worth of Preparedness

Boston, Mass.—A group of boys unable to help their injured comrade, and a party of boy scouts that arrived to administer first aid were participants in a recent demonstration of scout preparedness for emergency.

James West, of this city, while out for a day in the woods with some companions, was accidentally shot in the leg. The wound bled profusely while his frightened companions stood helpless, not knowing what to do.

At this moment Scouts Francis Adams, Hoyt Larison and Tom Barnard, out on a hike, appeared on the scene. Scout Adams took charge of the situation and sent his chums for help. He fashioned a tourniquet from his neckerchief and stopped the flow of blood. Cutting saplings he improvised a stretcher and with the assistance of the other boys started for home with the wounded lad.

They had gone only a mile when they met the boy's father, who had been notified of the accident by the two scouts and was hurrying to the scene in an automobile. He took his son to the hospital.

The scouts were only twelve years of age, but scout training had prepared them for the emergency.

Her 232d Arrest

Chicago.—Clara Meyers, fifty years old, according to the police, premier pickpocket for more than a decade, was arrested for the two hundred and thirty-second time. Clara, who has been in 12 penitentiaries and 62 jails, has paid fines aggregating more than $25,000, police records show. Clara will not deny her wealth, police say, but does admit that the first 100 arrests are the hardest.

Airplane Starters

The air service says that many of the larger types of airplanes have self-starters. The smaller planes have not, because the weight of the starters would decrease the speed of the machine, and speed is the vital element to the small, light plane used for combat purposes.
